

VINCENZO LATINA

In 1989 he graduates in Architecture at the IUAV of Venice. From 1990 to 1991 he collaborates with Francesco Venezia. In 1992 he begins his professional activity. Professor of Architectural and Urban Design at the Syracuse School of Architecture, University of Catania. Contract Professor at the Academy of Architecture of Mendrisio, University of Italian Switzerland. He has written numerous publications, held lectures and exhibited his works in various national and international architectural exhibitions. He has received numerous awards and recognitions. He has won international architecture competitions for the refunctionalisation of two cranes in the port of Palermo and for the realisation of the marine station of Syracuse.